Serendipity !

- * Lowset timber home built for the tropics
- * Lush and private rainforest setting
- * In-ground pool
- * Home office

Tropically designed lowset timber home built by local builder Ken Fox to suit the rainforest surrounds. On nearly 3,000m2 down a private road, the home is spread out over one level with the main bedroom and ensuite located away from the other two bedrooms and separate library / study / games room. A huge open kitchen / living / dining area sits in the middle of the home and opens up onto a deck overlooking the pool.

An office or fourth bedroom is set away from the living areas of the home for privacy and there is a double carport with internal access.

Gardens are easy to maintain and the landlord is happy to cover the cost of the pool maintenance and only asks that you keep the pool clean.

Great location with the school bus at the end of the driveway and only a five minute trip via our own ocean road to Mission Beach.
